NOTED COLLEGE WOMAN SPEAKS HERE SUNDAY

Honolulu people have not forgotten the deep impression made upon them by Dr. John H. De Forest, missionary leader from Japan, when he was here several years ago. He was one of the few Americans decorated by the late Emperor for his many important services to the Empire. At the height of his influence and in the prime of life, Dr. De Forest passed away last year in Sendai, where the Japanese are now erecting a memorial church in his honor; but he left a worthy bequest in the form of his daughter, Miss Charlotte B. De Forest, of Kobe College, one of the most remarkable Americans now in Japan.

Miss De Forest is a graduate of Smith College, where she achieved a record that has never been duplicated. Shortly after graduation she went to Kobe and gave herself to the study of the language, in which she has become so proficient that one of her favorite pastimes is the composition of Japanese poems, for which she is becoming widely known. A lady of great literary ability, a leader in the educational world in her adopted country, a fine speaker, and possessed of a most charming personality, she is just entering upon a career of the widest influence. Miss De Forest has been on a furlough in America for the past year and is now returning to the Orient on the Manchuria, which is due here tomorrow.

She will remain in Honolulu one week as the guest of Dr. and Mrs. Scudder, and has kindly consented to speak at Central Union Church next Sunday evening, on the occasion of the second sacred musical. Every college woman in the city will be glad to know of this opportunity to come into personal touch with one of the dynamic forces in the college life of the Pacific world.

FULL-BLOODED INDIANS AT LIBERTY SAYS GOOD ROAD

TRENT TO TALK TODAY

The sixth of the series of week-of-prayer meetings will be held in Cooke Hall at the Young Men's Christian Association, building tomorrow afternoon at twelve-thirty o'clock. H. H. Trent, president of the association will lead the meeting and will treat the subject, "Patriotism."

These meetings have caused a great deal of interest, and all men, whether members of the association, or not are invited to attend.

Artists rave about the beauty of the sunset, perhaps because they have seen the sun rise.

BUILDING WILL BRING TOURISTS

"If Hawaii wants to get into the big winter tourist trade such as Los Angeles has, we must insist upon, and get good roads and plenty of them," says Mr. P. C. Jones. Mr. Jones has returned from a trip to the mainland, extending as far east as Boston, and on his way home visited Los Angeles.

He says that Los Angeles has a marvellous system of roads in and around the city, and that this is one of the big factors in its tremendous and profitable tourist traffic.

"I understand there are some 310 miles of roads in and close around the city," he said today, "and it certainly is a pleasure to drive over them in an automobile. The road surface, I believe, is of the best, and it is kept in faultless repair."

California is to spend some $15,000,000 on the share of that State in a great highway running north and south and extending from Seattle, Washington, down through Oregon and California to the southern boundary. I do not know of any factor more important in getting tourists here and getting them to stay for a while than good roads.

"I notice that Link McQuinn is advocating cutting down the county payroll. While I believe in economy, I feel that this city can well afford to maintain a gang of men whose business it would be to repair roads the moment any hole began to appear. In Los Angeles, the holes are filled and smoothed over and the roads are kept from deterioration. Here many of our streets," and he pointed to a section at Fort and Merchant, "are like that, bumpy and full of holes. I believe that if it took forty men to handle this continuous repair work, the city would save money by it in the end."

Mr. Jones spent most of his time in Boston with his three sisters. He has a quiet trip. He says that Los Angeles is one of the prettiest cities he has ever seen in its thousands of landscape homes.

HERB DOCTOR

to guard against blood poisoning, the Chinese physician bound up the injured limb with a poultice composed of raw chicken flesh.

"This material rapidly decomposed, and it is alleged that the poison soon found its way into the wound on the man's leg."

After twelve days of this sort of treatment, the police were again notified to visit the injured Chinese. The sufferer was hastily removed to the Queen's hospital. An examination of the wound developed the fact that gangrene had set in and that an operation was imperative.

Despite this attention given the patient he died on last Monday night. According to records secured by the police department and through direct statements made by Chew Fong, he first obtained his license to practice medicine in the days of the monarchy. He showed a document issued by Minister Gibson during the reign of King Kalaniana'ole and stated that since that time he had not been required to take a further examination.

The fate of the Chinese may develop in a general rounding up of a number of Oriental medical men alleged to be doing business in the Territory.

HAMAKUA AND KOHALA TO HAVE VETERINARIAN

Hamakua and Kohala are likely to have a resident veterinarian as an outcome of the glanders epidemic in Waipio Valley. Mr. Dowsett strongly urged the appointment of a deputy to the Territorial veterinarian for those districts at yesterday's meeting of the board of agriculture, and the sentiment of the meeting was unanimous in favor of the proposal. There are now deputies for Hilo, Maui and Kailua respectively Dr. Elliot, Dr. Fitzgerald and Dr. Galsayer. Kailua county pays $25 a month toward its veterinarian's salary.

A lack of funds may cause the appointment of the additional man on Hawaii to be deferred. In this connection the board discussed the handicap of having no emergency appropriation, and it decided to ask for one after the return of J. P. Cooke, chairman of the conservation fund appropriation commission.

There was some talk about the expenses of the declared quarantine of Waipio Valley, it being thought unjust that the corporations interested should be asked to make contributions, seeing that they already bear their share of the conservation tax that supports the board. However, it was not thought that the expenses would be great. There is only one place to guard against the entrance and exit of animals, the strategic point being the gatehouse of the Hamakua Ditch Company.

BAND FOR KAIMUKI

Mayor Fern has granted a request of the directors of the Kaimuki Improvement Club to have the band give one concert a month at Lilimokalani schoolhouse. The monthly evening band concert at Kaimuki, after a few months in which it was accorded last year, was dropped out for lack of a bandstand. Now the front lanai of the new schoolhouse supplies that requirement. So Kaimuki is again to have its share of band music.
